IDAHO FALLS, IDAHO.

The Junction City of the Northwestern and Union Pacific Railroads.

IDAHO FALLS, IDAHO, is located on the Snake River, in Eastern Idaho, half way from Butte to Ogden, and equi-distant from Denver to Portland. It is in the midst of 3,500,000 acres of rich agricultural lands, with eleven irrigating canals building.

IDAHO FALLS IS ONE OF THE EARTH'S NATURAL CENTERS.

The Northwestern Railroad will be completed west from Fort Casper by July 1, 1891, to this new city. The Union Pacific Railroad, it is said, will immediately begin the building of a branch from this point to the YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK. 20 FEET VEINS OF COAL only 30 miles from Idaho Falls.

A WONDERFUL WATER POWER.

The water in the rapids of the Snake River at IDAHO FALLS is 126,000 horse power, or nearly double the water power at Spokane Falls, Washington. Negotiations are now pending with a rich Mining and Reduction Company of Butte to erect their reduction works at Idaho Falls, where power is so plentiful.

THE WEALTHY SYNDICATE Who is building this new town has platted 320 acres of land and is selling lots in the ODD blocks AT COST. The Syndicate guarantee not to sell any lot or lots in the EVEN blocks for less than $100 each, but in order to have your influence and have you talk for the new city of IDAHO FALLS, and thus help mold public opinion, they will sell you lots in the ODD blocks for

❖ $30—EACH CASH $30 ❖

A Warranty Deed and Abstract of title furnished showing property free and clear of all incumbrance. 1,163 lots already have been sold, only 341 still for sale at the astonishingly low price of $30 per lot. Statistics Showing the General Condition of the Order.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.
BUTTE, Sept. 27.—The session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. just closed at Topeka, Kansas, was one of the most important in the history of the order. In the selection of Charles M. Busbee as grand sire, the order has secured one of the most prominent citizens of North Carolina at its head. Mr. Busbee is the youngest person who has ever been selected to guide the order as its grand sire.

The appeal to the sovereign grand lodge known as the Missouri appeal case was dismissed. The appeal arose over the eligibility of saloon keepers to membership in the order and provoked quite a considerable discussion.

Grand Sire General Underwood in his annual report gives the following statistics which show the general condition of the order:

General Underwood's re-election as commandant of the Army of Patriarchs Militant was not only a just recognition for his past services, but will undoubtedly be a great benefit to this department, of which he is the founder and friend.

The S. G. L. in the western phrase, sit down on the Daughters of Rebekah. During the last two years they have been permitted to hold grand conventions. The Daughters, however, apparently could not stand prosperity, and demanded of the S. G. L. the earth. They were rewarded by being deprived of the privileges already allowed.

The next session of the S. G. L. will meet in St. Louis, and no doubt the Odd Fellows of that city will make the grandest demonstration the order has ever had.

Go to J. E. Lynch's and try his ice beer.

CLARA MORRIS.

A Splendid Company and a Brilliant Engagement Assured.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—The company with which Manager Price has surrounded Clara Morris is one especially selected for their fitness for the roles assigned them, embracing such well-known people as Mittens Wellet, Grace Gayler, Ella Lang, J. M. Colville, Eugene Jepson, Walter Kelley, Howard Coveny and others. Miss Morris travels in her own special car, which is fitted and furnished so as to make it a veritable home. There is a diversity of opinion as to which of her plays she is considered most happy in, but both "Camille" and "Miss Merton" are conceded to be admirably suited for a full display of her unequalled emotional qualities. The plays are widely dissimilar in plot, the former being a young, self-sacrificing woman who, for the sake of duty, makes the most heroic sacrifices even to the giving her own life. The other deals with the mother's love for her children, and the woman who can witness the mournful tenderness of "Miss Merton" without recourse to tears is obdurate indeed. It is in the strong emotional scenes that the greatness of Miss Morris is felt most by her audience. She ceases to act; it is the character of the play who speaks. She strikes a responsive chord in every breast. She is a revelation in the handling of emotion. It is a broad statement, but one easily substantiated. Clara Morris is not equalled on the American stage as an expositor of the emotions. Dion Boucicault, the greatest genius this century has produced, after witnessing a performance of "Camille" by Miss Morris, wrote her a letter containing the following: "I occupy this—the first moment I have free since I witnessed your performance—to tell you very sincerely I acknowledge the presence of the greatest English actress in modern tragic drama that has existed during my career. I am not an enthusiast, and you know I am not complimentary to artists (who generally do not require the affluence of praise), but I would do myself injustice if I failed to express the opinion of an old judge. Heaven grant you health and life. It has granted you everything else. You are now at your zenith; you never acted so well as you do now. I have a great respect for your predecessors in the part of Camille—I mean Modjeska, Sarah B. Matilda Heron and Boche—but you combine all that was admirable in each." Miss Morris' engagement in Butte is limited to three nights, during which time she will be seen in "Camille," "Miss Merton" and "Renie De Moray."

THE RINK REOPENED.

Prospects of a Revival of the Roller Skating Craze.

By the Standard's Special Wire.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—The old pavilion rink was opened again last night after having been closed since the subsidence of the roller skating craze, several years ago. That the pastime has revived in popularity during the years that it was allowed to lapse was fully established to-night, as evidenced by the large crowd that was in attendance. The floor was so greatly crowded as to be uncomfortable, while the sides of the room were lined with spectators. Orion's band furnished the music and the floor was in excellent condition. The crowd lingered until the very last minute and even then appeared loth to leave, so greatly was it carried away with the sport. Quite a number of ladies were in attendance and skated with as much vim and pleasure as did the males.

POLICE COURT.

Mike Cavanaugh Given Six Hours in Which to Disappear.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—In the police court this morning Mike Brady was convicted of being a vagrant and was fined $35 and costs. Michael thought the decision of the court a rank injustice and a slander upon his standing in the community as a gentleman. For this reason notice of appeal to the district court was given.

Victor Cassin last night essayed to play the role of protector of innocent and guileless females, and while doing so was landed on his ear by a barkeeper in a concert saloon. He was arrested for disturbing the peace, notwithstanding the vehement protests of a couple of "pinks," who interested themselves in his behalf. This morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5 and costs.

Mike Cavanaugh was convicted of raising Cain generally and making night hideous with his noise. He was fined $5 and costs, and being an old offender was given six hours in which to leave the city. He promised to leave at once.

John Goldsworthy was arrested last night on a dual charge, disturbing the peace and assaulting his wife with intent to kill. He was convicted of the first part of the complaint and fined $5 and costs. He was also given bonds for his appearance next week to answer to the more serious charge of assault.

Fred Kerth, the energetic bill poster, was arrested this morning for committing a nuisance by scattering bills on the streets. He entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $1 and costs.

A LOST HUSBAND.

Mr. Haggeman Decamps With $180 Belonging to His Wife.

By the Standard's Special Wire.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—A lady giving her name as Mrs. Haggeman applied to the police this morning and asked their aid in assisting her to find her husband, whom, she said, had shamefully deserted her. She said that she and her husband were married only a few weeks ago at Leadville, Colorado, and then moved to Denver, where they remained until they concluded to come to Butte, arriving here last night. Upon their arrival they went to the Paragon house, where they secured a room. The lady had $180 in cash which she placed in one of her shoes as affording a safe hiding place should burglars pay them a visit. When she awoke this morning her husband and money both were missing and after vainly waiting for their return she became uneasy and started out in search of the sharer of her woes and joys. In this she failed and then as a last resort invoked aid of the police, but even these argus-eyed chasers of evildoers were no more successful than was the lady, and the chase was abandoned.

The missing husband is a gentleman who is engaged in the learned profession of lugging mutton in hotels and restaurants and the fact that his wife made search of the saloons first when she was looking for him is evidence that his habits are not of the very best.

Schumacher Disappointed.

By the Standard's Special Wire.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—Peter Schumacher arrived in town to-day and was greatly disappointed at his inability to have a match with Larry Gleason, Morgan's unknown. Mr. Schumacher has made two trips to this city and has been unsuccessful in getting up a match. He will, however, meet any man in Montana that Morgan is pleased to back. He doesn't know who Muehrane is, but is willing to meet him, whoever he may be. As to the challenge of Marc Christol, Mr. Schumacher says that if Christol will put his money up in Butte or Anaconda, he will cover it, or he will meet him in this city or Anaconda to arrange details. Schumacher bested Andrew Christol once and is confident he can best his brother. Schumacher will meet Christol on any date, but will not go to Helena.

Louis Goldsoll Discharged.

Special Correspondence of the Standard.

BUTTE, Sept. 27.—Louis Goldsoll, the young man whose sharp practice got him into trouble yesterday, is once more free from the meshes of the law. The complainant in the case was A. N. Yoder, of Albion, from whom Goldsoll obtained $25 on an imitation diamond pin. After Goldsoll had the money in his possession he boasted to a number of persons how he had "worked" Yoder, but his boasting was of short duration as he soon found himself in jail for cheating. The chilly steel bars of the county bastille soon cooled his ardor and he made overtures for a settlement, which after some delay was accomplished, and to-day he was formally discharged from arrest. He refunded the money obtained from Yoder and also paid all costs, after which the complaint against him was withdrawn.
